$25,000 IN PEARLS LOST

Mrs. Frederick Winthrop Misses Them After Trip Trip From Hamilton

Mrs. Frederick Winthrop, daughter of Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, today reported to the police the loss of a pearl necklace containing sixty-nine pearls of varying size, with a diamond and pearl clasp, valued in excess of $25,000.

Whether the necklace slipped from her neck or was taken by a thief while she was en route from Beverly to Boston is unknown.

Mrs. Winthrop, who summers at Hamilton, left there last Friday in her automobile. She made one stop on School street, Beverly, and then came direct to Boston and made one stop here before going to her home, No. 299 Berkeley street.

Mrs. Winthrop could not recall being followed by persons coming close to her.

Mrs. Winthrop said the necklace is so having extremely large pearls in the center with graduated pearls on either side and a large clasp encrusted with small pearls and diamonds. A jeweler, to whom the description was given, told police that the string was worth $10,000 at least and probably cost considerably more.

There are frequent communications from the captive families. The prisoners write that they are well treated, even given the opportunity to preach their gospel to their captors.

HURT FOR PUBLIC 'REPEAT' WINS BIG PLOTTERS VICTORY

State and City Police on the Watch for Men Reported Brought to Boston

State and city police watched vigilantly for repeaters at the Boston polls today.

They were tipped that men had been brought into the city and stayed at second-rate hotels and Turkish baths for balloting in the names of voters registered but absent from the city.

SEARCH FOR REPEATERS. The police search for repeaters began last night and continued vigilantly today. State officers and men from city stations toured the city the evening before and were on hand at polling places today.

They had heard that arrangements had been made at one Turkish bath to care for 15 non-voters. They also had a tip that several men had been quietly brought in and put at hotels, to be ready at opening of the polls to vote early and often.

A special detail of State police was on duty in Chelsea as result of complaints of repeaters at past elections and primaries.

Boston and Bay State men and women went to their voting places in a chilling drizzle. State election balloting was expected to run upwards of 800,000 votes.

It was Democratic weather. Hopes of the Republicans rested on fair skies early in the day, so that the uncertain contingent of "repeat-homes" would be impelled to get out and vote.

Supporters of ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald for Governor, Col. William A. Gaston for United States Senator, and the rest of the Democratic ticket saw victory. A check of the West End domain Continued on Page 6, Column 1.

"THE SUN HAS RISEN ON A NEW DAY IN BREAD MAKING"

Here it is—"the Key to Health"

The Ward Baking Company presents to Mankind an unsurpassed food

The WHITE SUPER-BREAD of Science

Science co-operating with the world's greatest bakers has produced a creamy white bread containing the combined nourishment of whole wheat and whole milk

Some Scientific Facts about VITOVIM BREAD

VITOVIM BREAD contains proteins of superior food value for growth and strength.

—liberal amounts of vitamins A and B.

—a well-balanced variety of body-building salts for bones and teeth.

It is rich in the food elements needed by the mother and growing child.

It supplies abundant energy at low cost.

Measured by the elements necessary in the food for young and old, VITOVIM is the most nutritious bread ever baked and one of the most perfect single foods ever produced.

The purity and quality of all ingredients and VITOVIM BREAD itself are constantly controlled by laboratory and feeding tests. Also backed by the widely known Ward warranty and guarantee of many years' standing covering all Ward products.

FOR twenty years the Ward Baking Company has been working to create a bread which would represent a complete all-round food. Everyone eats bread. Most people eat a great deal of bread. If the bread you eat is deficient in important food elements, your diet is likely to be lacking in some of the factors that are essential to health and vigor.

Ward's work in the production of this super-bread has been more successful than the most optimistic could have hoped for. It has resulted in one of the greatest achievements in the whole record of scientific research as applied to the service of humanity. It enables the Ward Baking Company to present today a remarkable new food—the most nourishing loaf of white wheat bread, or bread of any other kind, ever baked!

A nutritious, delicious, creamy white bread, rich in important vitamins, mineral elements and proteins of wheat and milk.

Ward's VITOVIM BREAD contains more of the food elements needed by the human body for growth, for building muscle, bone, teeth, nerves and blood, for repairing the natural wear and tear of the body and for the preservation of health and vigor—than has ever before been secured in bread.

The finest flour is but the first of the valuable foods which go to make up this wonderful new loaf. There are added all the health-giving elements of the "germ" or heart of the wheat berry, where Nature stores the life essentials of the grain. These treasures of the wheat heart, until recently unappreciated, are discarded in the milling of white flour.

Instead of water the richest whole milk is the liquid ingredient of the dough and additional amounts of the nutritious solids found in milk are introduced. No bread has ever been so rich in milk. No bread has ever been so good.

Years of research and almost two million dollars expended to develop and prove the VITOVIM loaf.

Not only is the VITOVIM loaf a creamy white delight to the eye, but a tasty, satisfying addition to the most appetizing meal.

Here is not only satisfaction for the senses, but the food wealth of wheat, the life-sustaining elements of milk, the important vitamins without which science knows life cannot continue. Generation after generation of small animals have been reared to maturity and perfect health and at normal rate of growth on VITOVIM and water alone, proving beyond doubt its nutritional value. The like cannot be said of any other bread.

Remember that the VITOVIM loaf is the result of a deliberate effort, to produce not simply an improved bread, but a food which could be truly termed "the staff of life."

For a score of years leading food scientists and dietitians and the technical staff of the Ward-Baking Company have been applying their united forces toward this present achievement. Almost two million dollars have been expended in preliminary work and in the construction of the plant at Warren, Ohio, where some of the newly developed elements in VITOVIM BREAD are produced.

Even when VITOVIM BREAD was perfected and had aroused the enthusiasm of all who were in the secret, the Ward Baking Company and its scientific advisors were not yet willing to offer it to the public. They felt that this new product was of such momentous importance that it could be given the announcement which its value justified, only after the most thorough and searching practical tests.

VITOVIM BREAD has been baked daily for more than eighteen months and during this time hundreds of feeding tests have been carried out. The most critical standards of judgment have been applied. Today there can be no possible doubt. The statements made in this advertisement are not opinions, not the reflections of hopes, but facts founded upon actual scientific tests and approved by the ablest scientific men and nutritional experts.

Besides being the best bread ever produced, VITOVIM is an economical food. And flavor! You have never tasted any white bread so delicious.

Vitamins belong in food—depend upon VITOVIM BREAD for Vitamins—for maximum nutrition at minimum cost.

This super-bread costs only a trifle more than ordinary bread, but it is worth much more. If its cost were twice as much, it would still be a revolutionary value in foods.

VITOVIM is founded on the rock of economy. It supplies all that any other bread has ever supplied, together with vitamins from milk and wheat—also proteins and mineral nutrients which are lacking in many of the foods you now eat.

Get your vitamins from this daily dependable and economical source. Make VITOVIM your bread and stick to it for life.

VITOVIM is a real protective food—it is an aid to health, strength, vigor and resistance to disease. In addition to all this, it is the most delicious bread you have ever tasted.

VITOVIM expresses the world's latest and deepest knowledge of human nutrition.

Every statement made in this advertisement was first submitted to the critical review of several of the world's experts in nutrition

LOCAL CONTESTS ENLIVEN VOTING ALL OVER THE BAY STATE

LINE AT MANY OF BOOTHS

Ward 11, Roxbury, which has a heavy crowd vote, attracted in large numbers the early voters. The fight there centered on the contest of Marlow Bullock, colored candidate for one of the House seats on the Republican ticket.

An average of 150 voters was cast by 8 o'clock in the seven precincts of Ward 11, which comprise the Hyde Park district. This was heavy balloting for that hour. Democrats worked hard for David W. Murray, the Hyde Park Democratic opponent Congressman Louis A. Frothingham of North Easton for re-election in the 14th district.

West Roxbury and Jamaica Plain turned out a heavy vote. Both Republican and Democratic women were working to send Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald to the House.

Early voting in Precinct 7 of Ward 11, Dorchester, was so heavy that an hour after opening of the polls would voters had to stand in line and wait their turn.

More than half the West End vote was cast early. At Ward 5, Precinct 5, on Bowen street, 355 out of a voting list of 450 had been cast at 10 a. m.

Some Cities Do Not Count Votes Till 8 P. M.

The counting of the ballots in today's election will not begin, in a number of Massachusetts cities, until 8 p. m. Under the law the polls must close not later than 8 p. m.

New Bedford leads the cities in the matter of early closing, with the limit set at 2 p. m. In the towns the election officials are empowered to close the polls at any hour, if they are satisfied that all voters have had an opportunity to cast their ballots.

In Rhode Island the polls close at 10 a. m.

ON WAY TO POLLS WITH WIFE AND DAUGHTER

John F. Fitzgerald (at left) and their daughter Agnes (at right) are on their way to the polls in Dorchester to cast their votes for the Democratic ticket.

7 p. m. in the cities and at 1 p. m. in town holds open until 8 p. m. In New Bedford the polls close at 2 p. m. In most of the towns, although some Hampshire polls close at 6 p. m.

NEARBY CITIES RUSH TO GET OUT VOTE

Roxbury, with a total registration of 2874, the largest in its history, turned out a heavy vote which promised to be 80 per cent.

Chelsea, with a registration of 18,495, bristled with local fights. There, with the State elections, opened the important early vote in snail. Democratic leaders claimed the city by 500.

The vote in Roxbury was light until the middle of the forenoon when it began to come out heavy. Late today strenuous efforts were made by the Republican League and Republican Town Committee to get every registered voter to the polls. One hundred voters were waiting when Dodman polls opened in the municipal hall. They were mostly women in Roxbury car shops.

A local fight for representative made activity. Supporters of Charles J. Hurley, lieutenant "over there" and member of the American Legion, hustled to help his contest against Representative Wm. B. Sullivan, who sought a third term from the "Liberal-Republican" ticket.

250 Federal Agents Sent Into New Jersey

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 7.—Squads of Federal agents, sent into the State on orders from Attorney General Daugherty, operated under the direction of John W. H. Crim, one of Daugherty's chief lieutenants, to arrest possible socialist frauds.

The appearance of the Federal agents was resented by Democratic supporters of Governor Edward I. Edwards, who said the State could protect the honesty of the polling booths without Federal interference.

David Allen, a Jersey City Federal agent, said his 250 deputies would not allow the Jersey City vote to come within 100 feet of the polling places. Police officials said if anything of the sort were tried the deputies would be arrested.

Coolidge Has to Wait for Voting Place
Northampton, Nov. 7.—Vice-President Calvin Coolidge was obliged to wait five minutes before he could cast his ballot at City Hall. The Vice-President came to the hall in company with Mrs. Coolidge, Judge E. W. Lewis of the Superior Court and Mrs. Lewis. The woman found voting stalls immediately, but Mr. Coolidge and Judge Lewis were delayed.

Autos Bring Out Watertown Voters
The vote in Watertown was the heaviest in years. The fight there centered around the candidacy of P. Sargfield Cunniff, who sought election to the House. He was opposed by George H. Dale, present incumbent. Scores of autos brought out a tremendous feminine vote. Waterman was interested in the effort to change the City Charter from Plan B to Plan D. The vote was heavy.

Two years ago Cox received 16,000 of 23,000 votes there. It is believed the Democratic candidate will cut deeply into these figures. The Fitzgeralds were hopeful of carrying the city.

Interests also centered around the fight between Arthur R. Reading of Cambridge and James Bailey for District Attorney for Middlesex County. Many Republicans have inquired Bailey, the Democratic candidate. The woman's vote has been heavy.

in the cities and at the discretion of the election officials in the towns. Vermont has two closing hours in both cities and towns: voting for members of the Legislature closes at 8 p. m., and for the State ticket, United States Senators and Congressmen at 6 p. m.

Report Referenda Slowed Up Voting

The five referenda questions on the ballot slowed up voting. Voters, especially women, complained that they had to spend more time than usual in the booth, reading over the fine print on each question and taking care that they understood. Persons who had thoughtfully figured out beforehand just what "Yes" or "No" meant on each question were able to mark their ballots more quickly.

Arlington Vote Slow; Wellesley Brisk

In Arlington, Lexington and Concord the vote was below normal at noon. In Arlington only 8,000 had voted out of a registration of 7,800. In Concord the total was 750 out of 2,516, and in Lexington it was 1,900 out of 2,500.

In Wellesley a heavy vote was reported. For the first time in that town a woman, Miss Mary Cunningham, served as an election official. She was at North High School.

Women Voters Throng to Polls at Lynn

A check of all precincts in Lynn showed the total vote at noon to be 12,500. The normal total runs slightly over 30,000.

There was a surprisingly large number of women voters.

William P. Conroy, soldier candidate for Congress in the Seventy District, was greatly in evidence during the day. He predicted he would win by the greatest vote in his district in a decade.

Woman First Voter in Ward 2, East Boston

The total vote in Ward 1, East Boston, was 2,429 just before 12 o'clock and in Ward 2 was 2,454 at noon.

In Precinct 5 of Ward 2 the first person to vote was Miss Annie Davis of No. 23 Liverpool street.

The Pelletier-O'Brien battle was the absorbing topic in this section, while much interest was shown in Miss Catherine Bell's fight for the House of Representatives.

Fitzgerald Fights to Carry Somerville

Political observers in Somerville declare that out of a total registration of 23,000 over 20,000 votes will be cast.

Two years ago Cox received 16,000 of 23,000 votes there. It is believed the Democratic candidate will cut deeply into these figures. The Fitzgeralds were hopeful of carrying the city.

Interests also centered around the fight between Arthur R. Reading of Cambridge and James Bailey for District Attorney for Middlesex County. Many Republicans have inquired Bailey, the Democratic candidate. The woman's vote has been heavy.

PROBE PLOT TO BALK JUSTICE IN HALL CASE

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 7.—Investigation of reports of a plot to obstruct justice in the Hall-Mills murder case and to prevent the murderer from being tried here today.

Special Deputy Attorney-General William A. Mott, who expects to seek the indictment of the "woman in gray" the latter part of the week on the strength of the sworn statement of Mrs. Jane Gibson, is said to feel that the inquiry has been hampered by the refusal of some of the witnesses to tell all they know.

Others, it is said, have placed obstacles in the way of the investigation, and Mr. Mott intends to prosecute them on charges of being accessories after the fact. In the event he finds evidence supporting the report.

Definite action was prompted by Mr. Mott before the week ended, and this was taken to mean that the case would be presented to the Grand Jury Thursday or Friday.

Mrs. Hall's Brother Plans to Force Action

Lavallette, N. J., Nov. 7.—Henry Stevens, brother of Mrs. Eleanor Stevens, who was murdered near New Brunswick on September 14 last, is disappointed at the delay in the official inquiry and contemplates bringing matters to an issue by leaving town.

Mrs. Stevens, his wife, said in an interview here today: "We think it is about time that we pull up our belongings and go away from here. Just to force an issue with the authorities who are investigating the murder," she said.

Stevens has told the investigators that he was fishing near Lavallette on the night of the murder and has furnished the names of several persons who, he says, saw him.

Mrs. Jane Gibson, farmer, has told the authorities that a man committed the murder and that he was accompanied by a woman in a gray coat.

"We were ready to go on a world tour when this thing happened," said Mrs. Stevens, "but we got it up because we thought it would be better for Henry to stay and face whatever was in store for him. Now, however, we think the authorities use have had time enough to act and we think that the best way to force them to do something will be for us to leave town and start our trip."

"I believe the solution of this crime has not even been hinted at yet. Has anyone thought of looking up other men who might figure in Mrs. Miller's life?"

GERMAN SHIP SINKS 25 OF 26 PERISH

A sailor was picked up by a British trawler and reported that he was the only survivor of the crew of twenty-six upon a ship which was sunk by a storm.

BOY PUSHED OFF ROOF TO DEATH

New York, Nov. 7.—The police record of the death a month ago of two-year-old Sam Panamure was changed today from accidental to homicide, and Mrs. Catherine Smiley, who lives in the flat above the Panamure family, was arrested on a charge of having caused the boy's death by pushing him from the roof of a five-story tenement.

Detectives said they learned that Mrs. Smiley became angered when the Panamure boy poured water on her two children while they were playing on the roof of the tenement.

LITTLE GIRL SOBS FOR MISSING DOG

Little Pauline Miller, Jr., eight years old, of No. 26 Hane street, Allston, is a very sad little girl today. On November third her best friend was lost.

He is a little Scotch terrier, light brown in color with a white chest, stands about eight inches high, and answers to the name of Buster.

When Pauline got home from school on last Friday she learned from her mother of Buster's disappearance, and immediately started out in search of him. All that evening, until long after dark, she searched around the factory operated by Thompson & Norris Box Company, but failed to find him.

She went to the very last place and across Saturday morning at a o'clock, and without eating her breakfast, again started her search. Since Buster ran away she has neither eaten nor attended school.

STEEL HEAD RAPS RAIL BOARD'S ANTI-LIVING WAGE OPINION

PRESENT NO TIME TO OUT PAY, GARY ASSESTS

By JOHN GOLDSTROM.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Judge Elbert H. Gary made it clear that the United States Steel Corporation is not in sympathy with the anti-living wage ruling of the Railway Labor Board.

The head of one of the great basic industries of the country declared before the Federal Trade Commission that the cost of living determines the corporate wage policy and that under present conditions wages cannot be reduced.

Judge Gary's attitude is in direct line with an editorial of William Randolph Hearst, which appeared in the New York American, September 11, under the heading, "Theory a Country Can Benefit From a Reduction in Wages, a Mistake, Says Mr. Hearst."

RECENTLY RAISED PRICES. The United States Steel Corporation recently raised the wages of its laborers. This, despite Judge Gary's testimony that the corporation is making "small profits if any," his statements before a government body created a distinct sensation.

The emphatic wage policy declaration of the chairman of the steel corporation, in the face of the hearing, which was in relation to the Federal Trade Commission's charge that the steel corporation and its subsidiaries have been guilty of discriminatory price fixing.

Among other things in support of his contention that the law of supply and demand fixes prices, Judge Gary said:

MAKING LITTLE PROFIT. "We are at this time making little or no profit on our total investment of two and a quarter billion dollars. The percentage of our earnings at present shows that we are not making much return on this large investment—but conditions are improving."

"From 20 to 25 per cent. of our cost of production is in labor. With the present high cost of living our wage rate is not too high, and we cannot reduce this part of our production cost. That is out of the question."

"There isn't much chance for us to make money now. We have not waited. We are going to have prosperity in this country, of course."

but it will take time. Adjustments have got to be made, and conditions are improving.

NEED STABILIZATION. "What we want is stabilization of business not only for the manufacturer, but for the worker and the consumer as well. The Pittsburgh base price is an element in maintaining stability. I know that there are consumers who don't believe that. Such a consumer usually thinks only of his own plant and of the lowest possible price for which he can get steel. The steel industry as a whole looks further than that."

"You will never find an unreasonable or unwilling to listen to the steel corporation for the general good. The Pittsburgh base price Judge Gary referred to is cited in the Federal Trade Commission's complaint, supported by some independent steel interests, as the Pittsburgh-plus price, by means of it steel is priced at Pittsburgh, plus the freight-rate to other plants."

For instance, if rolled steel is $30 a ton at Pittsburgh it will be at price at Duluth plus the freight-rate of $12.50 between the two cities. The commission makes it plain that it is not paid by the Duluth steel mills of the corporation.

On this point hinges the whole question in the iron and steel industry. Judge Gary contended that the steel corporation does not fit the Pittsburgh base price arbitrarily as an indefinite basis for differentials at other points, but as a convenient method of basing quotations.

Charity Dances Enlist Interest of Hub's Smart Set, Declares Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

I WASN'T in the least surprised to hear that Mrs. Roger Foster and Mrs. Hendricks H. Whitman are to sit in supreme judgment at the competition dancing next Thursday afternoon at the Copley-Plaza. For who could be more admirably suited critics of terpsichorean.

The competition dancing is part of the tea-dance, which in turn is part of the all-day bazaar being held at Thursday at the Copley-Plaza by the Women's Municipal League. The bazaar opens at 10:30, in the small ballroom of the hotel, and Miss Polly Cabot, younger daughter of the T. Handseyd Cabots is in charge of it. At 5 o'clock the competition among the followers of Terpsichore will begin, and there is sure to be no end of good-natured rivalry about it.

Polly Cabot—one of the youngest set's most versatile members—is a most attractive looking girl, slender, with light hair and hazel eyes. She is greatly devoted to tennis, and usually takes part in the Longwood tournaments, as does also her mother, Mrs. T. Handseyd Cabot. The marriage of her sister, Elizabeth Cabot, to Henry Holt, Jr., of New York, was solemnized early in September at the Cabot Summer home in Dublin, N. H., and was one of the notable ceremonies of the Fall.

THAT Thursday's dancette promises to bring out a very representative number of the fashionable contingent is evinced by the list of those who have taken tables for the occasion.

Among the latter is lovely Mrs. Oliver Ames, Jr. (Carolyn Fossenden), Miss Ellen Hathaway, Mrs. T. Handseyd Cabot, Mrs. James Little, mother of Miss Harlow Little, the debutant; Miss Russell and Mrs. James Amory Parker, whose daughter, Miss Virginia Parker, made her debut at a tea-dance on Friday afternoon. Another table holder is Miss Mary Atkinson, daughter of the Edward W. Atkinson, whose recently announced engagement to Henry Francis Colt is causing a considerable flutter of interest among her distinguished circle.

There are still some tables which may be reserved by applying at the Women's Municipal Va. 25 Huntington avenue. Admission to the dancette is one dollar.

THE tea-dance, of course, is only one feature of the all-day affair which the league is holding. In the morning there will be a bazaar, open from 10 to 12 in the morning until 6 in the evening. At 3:30 there will be a vaudeville entertainment, at which Frances Bragotti will dance, and the Misses Grace Sargent and Frances Will—two of the season's most prominent beauties—will sing.

Many of those attending the vaudeville will probably stay on for the dancette. Efficient Mrs. Robert Treat Palmer, 34, is one of the busiest workers for the entire day's program, as are also Mrs. William H. Goodwin, Mrs. M. Gramme Houghton and Mrs. Everett Morse.

A MONG recent arrivals from Boston at the Hotel Ritz-Carlton in New York are Mr. and Mrs. Francis I. Amory and Mrs. Mrs. Eugene Endicott.

THE George Lee family of Beverly Farms seems to be very much "on the go" these days, though they move about "in sections," so to speak. Mrs. Lee, I understand, is sojourning for a while at White Sulphur Springs, while Mr. Lee and the son, Harry Lee, are spending the Autumn at the Farms. Mr. Lee, by the way, only recently returned from a trip to Scotland, where he and some other Boston men went for the shooting.

The youngest daughter, Miss Florence Lee, is still visiting friends in England, where Mrs. Lee left her this Summer for the 22nd of August. Their extensive travels through Spain and Italy for the Summer and the Winter and Spring. Later in the season, I believe, Mrs. Lee—she was formerly Miss Lee—will depart once more for distant shores.

MRS. F. LOTHROP AMES (Edith C. Cryer) of Dartmouth street and North Easton has arrived in London and is stopping at the Hotel Claridge. At the same hotel is also Mrs. Charles A. Munh. Mrs. Ames sailed for abroad only a short while ago.

EUGENE VAN R. THAYER, formerly of Boston, is of the New York contingent at Hot Springs, Va. Mr. Thayer, a member of the Harvard '04 class, belongs to the Somerset, Country, Tennis and Racquet and Algonquin clubs here.

BOY BURGLAR IS CAUGHT

he had broken off the combination from the safe door, sawed the hinges off the inner door and was in the act, the police say, at attempting to steal jewelry from the inner safe.

On the floor lay a large amount of jewelry removed from the safe. A cloth bag lay by the jewelry and was used to carry them away. Seameck had two guns in his possession, a .38-calibre and a .32-calibre fully loaded. He had 24 rounds of ammunition in a belt.

He put up no fight when the police suddenly entered the store with command, "Hands up."

Police waited Seameck's room in the Olympia Chambers and there found, they allege, a quantity of morphine, a hypodermic needle and a large quantity of cartridges for his two guns.

FLAPPER MAKES RECORDS FOR PHONOGRAPH

By THE FLAPPER (Carl Frisk)

A bit of Chinese clay, a hunk of resin, a bowl of shellac, a few odds and ends you happen to have around the house, and season with lamp-black to taste.

Mix well and put on the back of the stove to stew gently.

I learned this bit of useful knowledge at the Grey (Full Record Company, where I moulded "Cupid Cops. No. 10," "Blinky Winky," and "Why Should I Cry Over You?" and "Trade." The process is both intricate and fascinating.

INTO MUD PIES.

George, at the machine next to mine, instructed me in the details of the art of pressing records. Behind us a steam table sizzled and gurgled. On this we placed portions of the above described butter, cut in neat squares. When these had become sufficiently warmed to mould easily, we formed them into mud pies.

The "mother" record, which is made of copper, painted over with shellac, or something, is pressed down upon the mud pie and 1,000 pounds of pressure is exerted. "Pick Me Up and Lay Me Down in Dear Old Dixieland," and "Oh, What a Time to Just Before You Three Me Down."

Besides pressing the records, I was doing the testing department. Each tester sits in a glass enclosed cage and listens for eight hours a day to records; mostly the same record. The tester has a trained ear, she can pick out on a record a mile off. And when she finds a flaw the record is shattered in a thousand pieces and put on to cook with a new batch of Chinese clay, shellac and whatnot.

NEVER GETS TIRED.

"Don't you get tired of phonograph music?" I asked Milly, who was testing the new trials of her trade.

"Nope," said Milly. "I like it." And to prove her point she spent the noon hour playing over some new records for the amusement of the girls from the packing and labeling department.

After lunch I went back to George's department.

"Now," said George, after 10 made the first record, "look what you've gone and went and done."

"What?" I said. "It isn't broken or anything."

"But you've got the top label on the bottom piece and —"

"I don't see that it makes any difference," I said.

WOULD NEVER DO.

"I know," said George, "but if I let the one go somebody would go through life thinking that 'The Shook' is 'The Shook,' and 'The Shook' is 'The Shook.' That would never do."

"I'm afraid I haven't much of a talent for this business," I told George.

"George agreed. "It looks as though you'd make much of a record at it."

When I left the factory Mr. Murphy, the boss, gave me a fine assortment of records. I saw everybody a slightly used phonograph they no longer cherish?

Three good fairies, indeed, because they have contributed to our success.

Voters Will Make the Statement, Says Harding

Washington, Nov. 7.—When request was made at the White House for a statement from President Harding on the election, it was stated officially the President thought the only statement necessary was "the statement of the American people."

Mr. Harding was said to feel that the opinion registered by the voters at the polls became the official expression of the government and that he could not add to that.

Mrs. Fredericks was WORRIED

And no wonder! Visitors were coming out that afternoon and the old, old problem had come up again — "What shall I serve for refreshments?"

For the last party, she had worked feverishly all morning and had served an elaborate luncheon. She didn't mind the work so much, although it did leave her nervous and excited. But it was so expensive! And somehow, the afternoon had seemed stiff and formal—so different from the party at Mrs. Bradley's.

"What is it that makes everyone feel at home at the Bradleys?" she mused. Then suddenly—an idea! "Yes, yes; that must be it," she said to herself. "I'll serve the same sort of a luncheon."

Never had there been such a happy party as Mrs. Fredericks gave that afternoon. "I have learned something," she told her husband later. "The secret of successful entertaining is to serve good Coffee and plenty of it. Good Coffee, with something simple like sandwiches and cake, seems to suit most people much better than an elaborate collation without Coffee. There is something about Coffee that makes everybody feel at home."

TURKS MENACE BRITISH FORCE NEAR CHANAK

By International News Service. Constantinople, Nov. 7.—The Allied High Commissioners today sent an ultimatum to the Turkish Nationalist Government at Ankara that Allied troops will remain in Constantinople until the Near East peace treaty is signed.

It was stated that British soldiers were stationed in Constantinople and that the British military and naval forces were in a position to attack the Turkish Nationalist Government at any time.

A Ministerial Council today took up the Near East situation, which forced officials to admit that there was no chance of any other outcome.

It was stated that the British government does not stand firm, and that the Turkish Nationalist Government will break out and will move into the interior.

Two Dead Men's Names on State Ballots

The names of two dead men appeared on the official ballot today.

Representative Jerome B. Smith, Republican, of Provincetown, died last night. He had no opposition for re-election. If his name polls more votes than any other person, whose name may be written onto the ballot, a special election will be called to fill the vacancy.

Albert B. Collins of Fairhaven, died some time after he was nominated for reelection as Representative of Bristol County. He, too, had no opponent. County commissioners are urging the voters to vote for him because that will give them the right to appoint his successor.

MARY SWINEY'S SISTER STARTS HUNGER STRIKE

Dublin, Nov. 7.—Mary McSwiney, sister of the martyred Lord, who was shot, who is now confined in the New State government, followed in the footsteps of her brother by starting a "hunger strike."

It is reported that, if the hunger strike release her, 10,000 other hunger laws now in jail will follow her example.

Following a series of hunger strikes in Cork, which resulted in severe property damage, hunger laws issued a statement declaring that there is no truth in the stories that the hunger strikers are now in the Nationalist prison.

"Our principles are not open to compromise," he said. "Victory or defeat and extermination are the alternatives."

ART TREASURES GO IN $100,000 CAPE FIRE

Randwich, Nov. 7.—Twenty million treasures were lost today in a fire that destroyed the summer home of John A. Hanson, president of the Standard Pressed Steel Company.

The fire started in the night clothing department of the house and spread to the main floor.

It was thought the blaze was due to a wiring fault.

The house was a two and a half-story wooden structure and was one of the Cape Cod style.

It stood near the shore of Lake Umbagog in the town of Randolph, about ten miles from here.

Wanted to raise school age limit.

President Gratian D. Cushing, Vice President Frank L. Cushing, Treasurer Charles F. Bradley were selected at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Child Labor Committee Inc.

The committee strongly supported legislation to raise the age for compulsory school attendance.

Used Eight Years Doesn't Need Renewing

Said a Boston business man in Paine's the other day, "Eight years ago I bought some Paine bedding. Recently I called in an upholsterer to see about having it renovated. The upholsterer looked it over carefully and said, 'That bedding doesn't need renovating.'"

Eight years of constant use and still in good condition. A remarkable record, but not unusual for Paine bedding. Because Paine bedding is built to last, it gives you restful sleep for many years.

And it is sanitary. Made in sunny shops on one of the upper floors of the Paine Building by white-suited workers. Only clean, hygienic materials are used, and they are kept in dustproof cabinets. All hair is sterilized and treated to give it resiliency. Every mattress is delivered in a protective wrapper. If better bedding could be made it would be

'I Didn't See Murder,' Says 'Mystery Mary'

DOW CASE GIRL RAPS MRS. RAAB

Denies Mentioning Preston Tragedy at Revels; Husband Backs Her Alibi

By BERT FORD.

Mrs. John A. MacIntyre of No. 253 Highland avenue, Somerville, the guest known as the "Mysterious Mary" at the Dow party in Melrose, today denied with spirit that she was known as Mary Gibson or that she was the "married woman" reported to have been seen at the scene of the murder of Patrolman James Arthur Preston in Wakefield in April, 1920.

"A statement made by Assistant Attorney General Blood that he knew the murderer of Preston and that a married woman, not the murderer, was at the scene, leaves an impression in the public mind which I wish to have corrected," said Mrs. MacIntyre.

WORKING NIGHT OF MURDER.
I would like to have the news state with all possible emphasis that I was working in my business as a dressmaker on the night of the murder of Preston, the night of the murder of Preston.

One of the attorneys at the case where Mrs. MacIntyre made a statement, remarked that he was convinced Mrs. Mary O'Leary Raab, whose story of assault at the Dow party started all the discussion about the Preston murder, was a "plant" GENERAL DENIAL.

The statement, covering three long typewritten pages, gave an exhaustive account of what transpired at the Dow party. It charged Mrs. Raab with giving a "false and ridiculous version" asserted that drinks were served, that Lord Reid, named to drink, said he was "the water wagon" that Mrs. Raab tried to induce Lord to drink; that nobody danced with her; that she became so incensed over an altercation with Mrs. MacIntyre over the South that she flung herself on the floor and twice fainted fainting spells; that Mrs. Dow poured water on her to revive her; that she pleaded with her not to disturb the neighborhood and that they induced her to return to the house once, and later she ran out screaming and looked at the number of the MacIntyre automobile before running home.

PROV. FLEET SEEKING RUM SHIP

Quest for Mother Craft Follows Providence Seizures; Hint Woman Heads Gang

Providence, Nov. 7.—A search of the high seas with vessels from Portsmouth, Portland, Boston, Newport, New London and Providence engaged, for the rum running schooner Marma has been ordered by Prohibition Director Harry Sheldon.

Seizure of the Marma was ordered following capture in Providence Harbor yesterday of the schooner Pandora with 140 cases of liquor, part of the Marma's cargo, aboard.

Today a second rum runner, a former sub chaser, was seized. It had about 200 cases of liquor released from Federal control Saturday when the Marma was seized to destroy with 775 cases of whiskey for a Canadian port after being held over a month.

Federal agents today also began an investigation to prove that a woman in Providence is the head of the rum-running gang operating with headquarters here.

The woman is said to use the Marma.

The Marma was seized off Block Island, August 12. In Federal court the captain and crew testified they were bound from Havana to a Canadian port and were blown ashore in a storm. Saturday, officials stamped each case of liquor seized with the government seal and name "Marma" and allowed the vessel to proceed.

WILL QUESTION WOMAN.
Prohibition Director Harry Sheldon suspicious of the craft, had its movements watched. The result was the capture of the Pandora II.

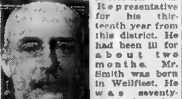

Today, former sub-chaser 408 arrived with 250 more cases of the Marma's cargo aboard. She was immediately seized.

The entire "dry fleet" was then ordered to search for the Marma and bring her in as a rum runner.

Meanwhile, the former owner of the Marma, a Providence merchant, declared he had sold the schooner to Mrs. Anna S. Fisher of No. 29 Ashton street, Providence. She will be questioned by the police on the recent movements of the boat.

Makes Her Husband Pay Up

HERLASS CONFIDED HER DEBT TO HANDS OWN MONEY

By HAROLD R. WALL.
Just one day before Dorothy Gordon was taken to the McLean Insane Asylum by her guardian, William F. Jardine of Winchester, she told one of her closest friends that she was "worried to death" over the manner in which her finances were being handled.

"I want my own money and property. I want to work out my own salvation, and I want to get away from the Jardines," is the way the girl put it.

NEPHEW OF GUARDIAN.
This was revealed today to a Boston American reporter by George Jardine, nephew of William F. Jardine, the girl's guardian.

It was young Mr. Jardine that Dorothy told of her worries regarding her finances, and of her great unhappiness in the Jardine home.

Mr. Jardine was the last friend of Dorothy to talk with her before she was placed in the asylum in March 1921. He called on Dorothy the night before she was taken away.

SEEMED WORRIED.
"Dorothy seemed worried that night when I called to see her," said Mr. Jardine.

"Dorothy also told me that she was tired of 'being brought up in the movies.' She explained that the only recreation she had at all when living at the Jardine home was going to the movies. She said she had tired of that. But Dorothy rarely showed no signs of anxiety that night. She was simply like any young woman who had a fortune told and wanted to get for herself. I do not believe that she ever was insane."

"The next day I called up to speak to Dorothy and received the shock of my life when Mrs. Jardine told me that Dorothy had been taken to the asylum. I was angry and told Mrs. Jardine that I did not think it was fair to Dorothy to do such a thing. I told her that I thought that environment had more to do with it than anything else and Mrs. Jardine got mad and hung up the telephone on me."

OPPOSE GUARDIAN.
Mrs. Jardine disclosed the fact that her father, Walter Jardine of Arlington, had fought William Jardine when he first applied for the position of guardian over Dorothy. At that time Walter Jardine also died and his estate was to be appraised.

When he stepped writing, the local authorities indicted him for debt. Detestable trails him for debt and he had been in for a while.

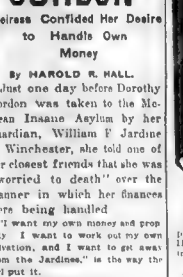

Then the secret of his mailing system was discovered. Maury each week gave his letter to a Pullman porter, telling him to post it in some other State. He picked a different porter each week.

In court he was put under $1,000 bonds to insure payment of it a week to his wife. The bond was furnished by his parents.

DUAL MYSTERY IN DEATH OF WOMAN

Providence, Nov. 7.—Dual mystery confronted the police when they found Miss Dorothy Anderson dead in her apartment at No. 80 South Court street today.

One mystery was the cause of her death; the other was whether the name under which she was known was her real identity. The woman was regarded as a recluse and was no much alone.

Death may have been from natural causes, but Medical Examiner Magill is not sure and will not say his investigation.

The mystery of identity developed when a handbook and papers were found with the name and address of "Cornelia Anthony, No. 423 Fruit Hill avenue, Baltimore, Md."

The similarity of initials, "C. A." is such was instantly noted. The handbook was on a Hallmark bank and showed deposits of several hundred dollars. The legal papers also bore the name "Cornelia Anthony."

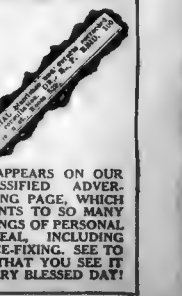

Mr. Magill thought the woman had been dead about three weeks. There was no sign of life, but he found her about last period.

The name "Dorothy" was on the mantel on the floor above, found Miss Anderson's body, fully clad on the living room floor.

The woman apparently had been driven by firemen and police from her room in the house. One of the electric lights in the living room was on. There was no sign of a struggle.

Inquiry about Miss Carrie Anderson and her life here developed scant information. She had rented one of the two top floor apartments in the building two and one-half years ago from J. M. Ouler, agent of the property.

CHARLEY PARKER AND TAMSEY BATTLE AT ARMORY CLUB

By RINGBIDE.

Thirty-five rounds of fighting. That's the election night offering for the Armory A. A. show at the Grand Opera House.

Charley Parker and Young Tamsey, two of the best of our noble lightweights, will clash in the final tussle of ten fencers.

Another two-rounder will bring together Willis Corbett of fair Harvard and Jos Curry of New Haven.

Then there will be a couple of bang-up fights. Heavy Beat of South Boston will oppose Ted Coolidge of Manchester, N. H., while Jimmy Manning of South Boston will have Henry Ford of the North End as an opponent.

So that everybody will be happy, the Armory Club has made arrangements to give election re-mines of the days when Eddie Murphy, Matty Baldwin and Gilbert Galliani were quarreling for supremacy in our native village.

Parker, a sweet sucker, and Tamsey, a natural boxer, are intense rivals.

There will not be any dull moments from the time the fight begins until the battle ends.

Parker, with six straight victories in his credit, where he will be well out front when the final blow has been delivered.

Tamsey is just as certain that his boxing class will carry him over the rough spots to victory.

The Corbett-Curry bout should please Curry, the career pugilist, Corbett, the master boxer.

As for the two fights, they will bring together two men who should furnish a lively entertainment.

SHADE'S JOCKS BEND PERRY'S ANKLES

By JACK CONWAY.

Dave Shade knocked Jack Perry out in seven rounds in their bout at the Armory A. A. show at the Grand Opera House tonight.

Willie Corbett is Jack's pick to win over Jos Curry in the other second round number.

Jack handed out the right dose on Dave Shade, whom he said would win over Jack Perry at the Armory.

"This means," says Conway, "that Shade and Sherrin will meet again at the Armory next month. Who will win?"

Shade fought his usual brilliant battle. He actually won the quarter in the opening round when he dropped Perry to the canvas for the count of six with a short left hook to the jaw.

Some time before Perry's head cleared from the effects of this shade.

The second frame was a parade for Shade. In the third frame, Perry let go a desperate right hand punch to the body which sent Shade to one knee. He was on his feet like a flash and gave Perry some rough treatment.

From that point on it was all Shade. His left hook to the jaw and body was his most effective blow, this was the weapon that eventually knocked Perry out of the picture and caused him to pull the injured ankle out.

Bill Brennan was the first fighter to kill a knockout with an injured ankle. Jack Dempsey busted Brennan on the chin so hard the first time they met that Brennan decided his ankle was injured.

Pickles Martin Favored an Ankle Injury. Pickles, Martin, so-called light-weight champion of the Pacific Coast, proved an amusing sight. He's a twin of Young Gird.

We took a pasting from Willie Gird. He lost every round. Martin made a hit with the fane. He hoped around the ring like a buck dancer and did all sorts of break things. He and Gird would make a good sack, provided they don't start doing it in opposite corners.

Yreka, Mass. of East Boston won over Johnny Fox of Woburn in eight rounds, while Billy Shine of Quincy defeated Paul Debova of Quincy in eight rounds.

Brian Downey and "Angie" Danner will clash at the Armory next Monday night.

Calza Intends to Take on Mat Leaders. George Calza, who has been wrestling in old-time form since his return to the United States, intends to take on the big fellows on the mat during the coming winter.

Calza is a really improved wrestler and would have a chance of winning if he pitted against any of the best men in wrestling.

The Old Howard management announcement will be back in our midst at the Grand Opera House Thursday night when he wrestles Jack McGrath of Worcester in a show which will be under the direction of the Old Howard management.

McGrath Went to Draw Against Strangler Lewis. McGrath is the New England champion and a rough, tough fellow. In the international wrestling tournament, he was one of the last four survivors and among other things went to a draw with Strangler Lewis. He is confident he will win over Calza.

The Old Howard management announces it will stage a show at the Armory on November 12, and that Strangler Lewis has been signed as a main attraction.

SCOUTS SPY ON SIMON-PURE RING STARS

New York boxing scouts have been spying on the Boston amateurs in anticipation of the annual intercity tournament which will be held at the Boston Arena tomorrow night.

President William H. Cuddy of St. Joseph's T. A. C. who is in charge of the event, learned of the plot. It is the first time in history that a scout was used to get a line on amateur boxing.

Scouting is known in football but it is a novelty in amateur boxing.

Twenty-four regular members of the A. A. U. who have been selected the New York team are looking for revenge.

Last year New York lost three out of four classes to Boston and this year they are not to run the table.

Two Secretaries Rubien has changed the makeup of the New York team and according to President Cuddy, Rubien made these changes only after he received the reports of scouts who have been watching the local amateur king in action.

It is expected that one of the big crowds of the season will be at the Armory for the first big amateur tournament of the year. For the first time in the history of amateur ring festivities, the fan box is manifesting great interest and it is predicted that hundreds will witness the bouts.

New York is banking on Marty Smith the star of the invading team. This year is considered the greatest amateur in the game today.

He will represent New York in the 125 pound class and a delegation of K. of C. men will accompany the boy here.

Boston is banking more on Red O'Grady, Tommy Kirby and Frank Williams than any other boxers on the team.

These boys are considered the class of the armory. In their bouts this year, they have amassed a knockout list that is envied by their rivals.

Here's a candidate for heavy-weight prizefighter honors among the amateurs of the act of bit and get away. She is Fran Thomas of Berlin, who has cre and quite a stir over her many victories in contests in Germany.

Backman Will Play Davis. The final in the Intercontinental tennis tournament at Boston University will be played this week. Joseph Backman of the Law School will oppose Jack Davis of the College of Business Administration.

Twice he defeated Woods, runner up in the national championship last season by 154 to 132 and 158 to 11. The champion will also oppose Woodcock both afternoon and evening.

TRACK CAPTAIN MAKES YALE GOSSIP

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 7.—Tommy Campbell, the Yale track captain, will be the head of the Yale intercollegiate team during an administration of innovations.

Already the following changes have been made:

1. The graduate advisory committee has been reorganized and Professor E. S. Furness has been elected chairman.

2. Ned Ames, formerly coach at University of Iowa and Chicago, has been added to the coaching staff.

3. John Mack has been made the head of the Yale track coaching system with a tenured contract for a term of years.

4. Intercollegiate, A. A. U. and variety cross-country runs have been added.

Captain Campbell, President John Swinton Flax, of the track athletic association, and the committee believe that track athletics can be expanded into a much more prominent place as a major intercollegiate sport.

The addition of the intercollegiate cross-country meet, the senior and junior A. A. U. and more regular dual and triangular cross-country events for the varsity team this fall has resulted in the greatest interest and the largest track squad in the history of the sport at Yale.

Bill Russell, the former tennis champion, has charge of the distance runners.

Another innovation which Campbell strongly favors is the transfer of the Yale-Harvard dual meet to a period close to the annual commencement work at the two universities.

Instead of holding these games in May, Campbell said that it had been proposed that they take place at the beginning of the annual commencement work.

This is two or three weeks after the intercollegiate, but as the athletes may be held in training for the season in July, it is argued that the dual games could be run just as readily in mid-June as in mid-July.

CLINTON SIGNS TO BOX FERGUSON. The Pastime N. C. of Marlboro clinched a good lightweight match for their show Friday evening, when they tied up Johnny Clinton, the ex-lightweight New England champion, with Tracy Ferguson, the hard hitting Connecticut boxer.

Clinton, who has been popular with the sports of Worcester County, Clinton won every bout except one in his appearance at the Armory.

CHARLEY TOOTH TO TRY AGAIN

Charles Toth, of South Boston, who failed to swim the English Channel, has been contemplating trying again next year.

Dismissing conditions there, Toth said the tide runs against him and west at Dover, but not until one swims out a mile and a half, the current is felt.

At five miles off the English shore the current is very strong and the swimmer is carried off his course, sometimes five to ten miles. This is so even in a calm sea, and in a rough choppy sea, characteristic of the Channel, it makes the swimmer's task very discouraging, even in the first half. The said is not set to endure.

McGrath Went to Draw Against Strangler Lewis. McGrath is the New England champion and a rough, tough fellow. In the international wrestling tournament, he was one of the last four survivors and among other things went to a draw with Strangler Lewis. He is confident he will win over Calza.

The Old Howard management announcement will be back in our midst at the Grand Opera House Thursday night when he wrestles Jack McGrath of Worcester in a show which will be under the direction of the Old Howard management.

McGrath Went to Draw Against Strangler Lewis. McGrath is the New England champion and a rough, tough fellow. In the international wrestling tournament, he was one of the last four survivors and among other things went to a draw with Strangler Lewis. He is confident he will win over Calza.

The Old Howard management announces it will stage a show at the Armory on November 12, and that Strangler Lewis has been signed as a main attraction.

Calza Intends to Take on Mat Leaders. George Calza, who has been wrestling in old-time form since his return to the United States, intends to take on the big fellows on the mat during the coming winter.

Calza is a really improved wrestler and would have a chance of winning if he pitted against any of the best men in wrestling.

Pitter and Patter in Vodville Chatter on Kissing

By Nat. N. Dorfman.

PITTER—I heard you kiss that pretty blonde at the party last night.

PATTER—You should be smacked for spreading such gossip. What cheek!

PITTER—I couldn't tell from where I listened.

PATTER—Do you think kissing is dangerous?

PITTER—Not unless it leads to marriage.

PATTER—What want to know for do you think kissing is to be healthy?

PITTER—Not if her old man catches you.

PATTER—Did you read what a French actress said about starting a kissing clinic?

PITTER—That wouldn't be a clinic. That would be a picnic.

PATTER—So you approve of the idea?

PITTER—Yes, that's the first sensible idea any actress has ever advanced.

PATTER—What degrees would you give the pupils after graduation?

ETIQUETTE FOR THE DANCE

By Les Conklin

IN dressing for a dance, do not bother to take pains with your appearance. If you comb your hair or shave, your girl will think that you are a top and not a regular human. A flowing four-band will cover a multitude of sins, including a soiled shirt. Do not shine your shoes as the polish will be rubbed off after the first dance anyway. It is not advisable to wear a snapshot as the point of it may come in contact with your partner's ear and pierce a hole in it.

Always arrive late at your girl's house. Then she will realize that you are independent and not to be wound around her little finger. Never tell her how pretty she is looking. Patter is a constant red vulgar. If she asks you to carry her vanity case for her put your foot down at once by telling her that you will not make a move to take out of yourself for any girl living.

When you are at the dance, leave the hall and enjoy a good smoke whenever you feel like it. This will give her a chance to dance with other men.

Do not dance too many fox-trots, but wait a moment for a waltz. This will make you appear distinctive and different from the common crowd.

It is dangerous to put a dance with her on a balcony or some other second story. As you may get in a draught and catch cold. Do not eat after the dance is over. Meals taken late in the evening are very bad for the digestion.

When you have seen her home, press her hand gently and bow gracefully. A shy wink or two is not considered too vulgar.

Upon returning home, call up the police station and ask to be taken to the nearest asylum.

ONCE OVERS

18 PRIDE YOUR STUMBING BLOCKS!

You may be deficient along certain educational lines and this fact hinders your advancement. You are ashamed to acknowledge that you know so little about some branches, and rather than let this fact be known to anyone you follow the same old rut year in and year out.

You will not go to night school to remedy your backwardness. So you worry along and make no advancement.

Why not procure a private tutor by reading the advertisements of those who make a business of such matters?

A small ad might get you a number of replies.

It would be better for one person to know your deficiency and you have an opportunity to remedy the trouble than for you to hold a mediocre position all your life for want of more education.

Two years, ten years hence—no farther along and more discouraged into the bargain.

Put your silly pride in your pocket; pick out a good instructor and go to it to get to the top in your line.

So We Are Told

An authority informs us that some of the Broadway girls are acting as busy these days that if they get knocked down by a taxicab and you pick them up, they'd call an officer and have you arrested for undue familiarity.

A Chance for Damages

Tom Brown is going to sue the firm for damages.

George—What for?

Tom—Why, they blew the whistle to leave when he was carrying a heavy piece of iron and he dropped it on his foot.

Indeed It Is!

When a popular local dance hall advertised "three orchestra" instead of "three jazz bands" truly 'tis a sign that refinement has laid its finger on our younger set!

If Men and Women Went Naked, What Difference?

That Question Is the Foundation of H. G. Wells' New Novel

Copyright, 1918, H. G. Wells

THE GREAT H. G. WELLS

In Wells' new, extraordinary novel beginning in this NOVEMBER NUMBER OF HEART'S INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE, Mr. Barnstaple goes for a vacation to rest from his worries.

Soon, mysteriously, Barnstaple and a number of other eminently respectable Britishers find themselves in another world, a strange country where men and women wear no clothes, where leopards do not bite. It is the country of "Men Like Gods."

An accident has happened. They find stone dead a man in the prime of life "naked except for a couple of bracelets, a necktie and a girdle." They go a little farther and, dead also, they find a "slender girl, clothed as little as the man, flung against a wall and killed instantaneously." She had a perfect mouth, green gray eyes (a very good color for intelligence) and she was very beautiful.

The respectable English lady was horrified, the men were surprised, but bore it well.

BURLING, AN ARISTOCRATIC BRITISHER, WITH ONE OF THE "MEN LIKE GODS"

Here, very carefully and ingeniously drawn by the artist, in order not to shock our earthy prejudices, Mr. Wells presents the respectable Britisher, Mr. Burling, meeting one of the superior, but naked, beings of another world. How do you like the two, and which do you think looks the more dignified? What would you say in answer to the questions, "What difference would it make if human beings were no clothes?" Would they become worse, or much better—assuming that the climate and the roughness of the ground would allow nakedness?

In Wells' strange world the ground is glassy, no need shoes.

In his story Wells evidently had in mind Einstein, the fourth dimension, and "relativity," plus his own eternal struggle to find some way of making this world better, varied by attempts to invent another ready-made, better one.

The aristocratic Englishman talks politely to the undressed man of the higher race. But you can imagine the feelings of an English aristocratic politician, an English lady, a clergyman and an English editor, when two stark (naked) Apollos stood over the rim, regarding our earthlings with an astonishment at least as great as that they created.

You will want to know what Wells makes out of his

Do It Now!

Being Polite to Meddlers

By Winifred Black

DEAR Winifred Black:

I read your article, "The Polish and Blues," and somehow I can't resist telling you what happened to me. I am twenty-five, very happily married, have the dearest three-room apartment, with large rooms with plenty of sunbath streaming in all day long. Why, my bathroom is as large as the bedrooms in some apartments! It's all white tile with a large window opening right on the outside—no air shaft.

My husband can't do enough for me. He cleans the bathroom and kitchen floors for me. Keeps the other floors clean. Dries the dishes and does everything to make life easy for me. Well, to get on with my story, a friend relative who means nothing to write and asked if she might come and see me. I answered that she might. Well, she came. She had to say my home was lovely. She couldn't say anything, but she made a couple of nasty remarks about me marrying who couldn't support their wives. This made me furious. My husband makes $45 a week, and I make $10, and as a whole far less than $45 a week. At last she came right out and said I was a fool to go to work. And then I spoke my little piece and told her in a nice way that it was none of her business.

This particular woman has a husband who is a cripple. He has not worked in years and she has steadily refused to go to work to help. They live on their wits, bluffing their way through wherever they can. She pays the highest rent she can possibly afford, and in order to get in a good neighborhood she always lives on the top floor.

Don't you think I did right in not to use strong expressions? Not letting her get away with it? Why should she hurt my feelings as much as she likes and expect me to consider her? I don't ask her to come back and see me because I don't want her. Why is it that some people are always trying to make others discontented?

ONE OF YOUR READERS.

Did you do right, little Mrs. Spittler?

Well, yes, I think you did.

The only way to stop meddling people from trying to meddle in your affairs is to give them a dose of their own medicine—and be done with it.

I'm glad you gave Mrs. Buxbody a piece of your mind. I hope it will do her good.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

Sacred and Secular Politics

Editor Boston American:

The 800,000 blacks in the French army, recruited from Senegal, are mostly if not all of the Moslem faith. This fact is the principal reason why France did not oppose the victorious advance of the Kemalist forces clean down to the shores of the Aegean. It is also very significant fact in England the High Church, about the same time, concluded a doctrinal compact of good will with the Greek patriarchate at Constantinople. The latter can doubtless read between the lines. M. H. NICKERSON.

Think It Over

Poor Lillian, you need advice, but I do not think that it will do you any good; not to one in your teens. Perhaps at twenty you will look back at this time and think that a foolish idea. Where did your inspiration come from? A girl friend, yourself, or watching others make good? Do you think at your tender age you could keep your head above the swirling mass of humanity seeking gold and fame? Do you feel confident enough to think that you could leave the bosom of your family tomorrow and make your own way into the world and get by and will be a good girl? I mean to pay your own way honestly. Think it over, friend. The state looks bright and wonderful. But do you realize that a girl on the stage does and must lose her modesty if she has any, due to quick changes and so on. May be the stage now would give their right arm to be off stage and sort of free again. It is not my aim to discredit the stage, but the girl who tries to make it is the one who is at fault. When she finds it hard selling to pay her bills she is apt to have her head turned and follow the short, narrow road to she out of existence.

HOWARD CHRISTIAN.

American Courts and Women

Editor Boston American:

In the papers of Saturday was offered an article regarding double shaming committed by a young married woman. The acquittal verdict like that of the jury in question ought to drive every thoughtful human being into fury. The so-called "moral insanity," leading only those seconds during which the killings took place, is a new kind of disease detected in some feeble-minded females. Brains of surgeons in America, but given no credit in the rest of the world. The man as well as the woman of the twentieth century are supposed to be equal before justice. The fact remains, however, that men are at the leading and in this respect, if this writer, for instance, is a disbeliever, could be sure that my earthly woman would, no longer bother me.

The reason for this state of affairs goes back to the time when women were in the minority. Hence the artificial and superficial "respect" for ladies which so greatly affects our men.

Paris Women Well Shod

By Universal Service.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The elegance and coquetry of the footware worn by the women of the things which strike visitors most when they come to Paris. Whenever you look you are worn daintily shod, whether they be modelines from the Bois de Boulogne quarter or little modelines weeding their way home on some slim near the Villette.

How they manage this feat of always being attractively shod, especially during the Winter when they are obliged to trudge through mud or snow most of the time, still remains a mystery for one even who has lived among them for several years.

The innate sense of coquetry of Frenchwomen is at the base of it, no doubt, for this makes them realize that, as a rule, the first thing a man looks at when summing up a woman is her ankles, and they desire to show these off at their best.

While skirts were so short the vamps of shoes were short too, and sturdy with it, but now that skirts have been definitely lengthened, vamps have been lengthened also, to fit in with the new line—and the change is all for the better. In place of the round, short vamps, shoes are now made on a plain last that forms a graceful line and ends in a pointed toe.

Although probably longer than the short-vamped shoe, the cut of this new model is not so actually studied that the foot actually looks much smaller than it does in its predecessor, and even if it did look longer, the increased effect of elegance and grace would certainly be considered sufficient compensation. The toe of this new model is not so excessively pointed, although there is a great difference between it and the stubby toe.

Parisian booties have also decided to call into force the old-fashioned fantasy of buckles. Their shoes are crowded with an alighting display of buckles in every shape and form; in paste, in jet, in cut steel and colored beads.

Regular appropriations of the city of Boston, 1920-21, unexpended, reached the sum of $370,808.

TO Somerville falls the honor of having three members of the National Guard, of which two are appointed each year to West Point, designated for admission to the Academy.

The boys are: CORPORAL LAWRENCE F. MCCARTHY, PRIVATE CARLTON GOODSPER and PRIVATE HALSEY MOORE.

In a downtown drug store. Among twelve-cent cigars he found one with a broken wrapper. "Give you six cents for it," "All right," said the clerk wearily. Customer sniffed out. "Another one of them re-bargain hounds!" commented the clerk. "But he has money in six banks."

SERGEANT ALEX ARCH of Battery C, Sixth Field Artillery, who, with his gun crew, gained fame during the war by breaking the French record for rapidity in firing with the French seventy-five, has just had another distinction added to his long list of laurels. Observance of the firing of the first American shot in the World War brought to light the fact that SERGEANT ARCH was the man who was responsible for it.

Frequently in the limelight as overseer of Zion City, WILBUR GLENN VOLIVA is well known as head of the late DR. DOWING "Christians" Catholic Apostolic church. There are many Boston Summer residents of York, Me., who recall him nearly twenty years ago in his capacity of pastor of the Christian (Baptist) Church in the exclusive Pine Tree State resort.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON EARTH'S ATMOSPHERE

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Would you inform me, if the earth travels approximately a thousand miles an hour, why is it that it doesn't appear to move so fast as when it is at rest? The rotation being from west to east, the wind would have been from east to west. Its speed at the equator would have been a thousand miles an hour. In the latitude of the northern United States about 160 miles an hour, and around the poles a horizontal circular turning.

I THINK it important occasionally to answer in some detail questions of this kind, for the casual observer of the earth's fundamental facts and ideas, and would not be asked if the schools did not, too frequently, about completely over the heads of their pupils in imparting elementary science.

Evidently what the querist is thinking of is the earth's rotation on its axis, which is performed with a linear speed of about 1,000 miles an hour at the equator, and along the equator. In the middle latitudes the surface speed of turning diminishes rapidly, until at the poles it vanishes. But even at the poles, where the rotation is slow, the surface speed of rotation is necessarily the same, viz., one mile in it twenty-four hours. The linear speed varies with the distance from the axis of the earth.

Now the atmosphere is a soft, elastic envelope surrounding the earth, and it rotates with the earth. The atmosphere is a soft, elastic envelope surrounding the earth, and it rotates with the earth. The atmosphere is a soft, elastic envelope surrounding the earth, and it rotates with the earth.

If Men and Women Went Naked, What Difference?

strange land of "Men Like Gods," where men and women wear no clothes, and where they devote themselves to science. It is hard for us to imagine such a world, it was hard for the English lady that met the two naked Apollos. All she could say was "Haven't we met before somewhere—at lunch or somewhere—Mr.—Mr.—"

It's a brand new kind of a story for Wells, and a brand new idea. It will be interesting to see what he makes of it. His undressed ladies among the "Men Like Gods" have wonderful eyes, beautiful hair. Some of the men have beards, all are marvellously good looking, thus far in the story. Did going without clothes make them so?

Would going without clothes IMPROVE US, poor "earthlings," that we are? The beauty of Greek statuary, never equalled, presenting a beauty of human form beyond our imagination, due to the fact that Greek boys and maidens ran naked in the races, no one thinking ill of it, all admiring the beautiful bodies that the gods had created?

Wells knows how to raise questions that interest you, whether he writes an outline to a great novel, or an attack on Tolstoy's description of Lenin in Russia, an appeal for an universal peace that won't come until we have a different breed of man, or as in this case, a story of a land that knows no clothing, of a people of "Utopians" far above us.
